Those who will graduate are Dorothy Bottoms, David Casey, Hildegard Geyler, Edwin Gilfillan, Charlotte Hillegas, Elizabeth Jones, Marion Miller, Emily Needham, Gerald Sperry, Bremer Yocum, Mable Kirkpatrick, Francis Lambert and Herbert McCarter.

The address will be made by Senator Fletcher W. Stites. The Salutatory will be delivered by Dorothy Bottoms, and the Valedictory by Edwin Gilfillan. Music will be furnished by the school chorus, as shown in the program printed above.

Many alumni of the school, in addition to the parents and friends of the graduating class are expected to attend the exercises. This is not the largest class ever to graduate, but compares in size with those of the past few years.

Next year, according to present plans, the high school will be merged with that of Lower Merion, so that Narberth Commencements will be a thing of the past.

The Sophomores and Juniors gave a reception to the Class of 1923 on Friday evening. A large number attended and had a very enjoyable time.

Class Day Exercises will be held in the auditorium on Monday, June 11th, at 2.00 P. M. The parents and friends of the Class are invited to attend. The following program will be given:

Baseball Today at home.

Baseball Today

Narberth plays Berwyn today on the home grounds to break the four-cornered tie for first place in the Main Line League.

Our local boys climbed up to the top last Saturday by handing Bala-Cynwyd a 15-7 score on the Bala grounds. George Fleck scored 3 of the Narberth runs, and Quin Yoell tallied a three-bagger.

Bala-Cynwyd0 1 0 0 4 0 0 1 1-7

Berwyn 6; Wayne, 5

Phin Pyott's Berwyn team went into a four-cornered tie for leadership of the Main Line League when they won an interesting game from Wayne last Saturday, 6-5.

After a poor start Paist settled down and pitched brilliant ball for Berwyn, being especially effective with men on bases, and holding Wayne to one hit for the last five innings. This was a three-bagger by Hallowell and was probably the longest drive ever made on the Radnor grounds.

Wayne2 0 1 2 0 0 0 0 0-5

Narberth 12, St. Malachy, 9

Starting the seventh inning with a handicap of a 9-3 score, Narberth took the measure of St. Malachy on Thursday night and scored nine runs in that inning. The hitting of Vernon Fleck and John Dickie featured the game, one of the popular twilight series.

A BIG CANVASS

An interesting meeting was held on Wednesday evening of this week at the home of Mrs. Fletcher Stites, at which time representatives from the various women's organizations in town pledged themselves to canvass "Our Town" for contributions to support the work of the visiting nurse.

During the past year Narberth has had the benefit of 400 visits from the nurse assigned to this district, and no one can estimate the insurance to Narberth against disease and the many cases of epidemics this service gives us.

The work is supported partly by the Health Council, partly by the Main Line Citizens' Association, and Narberth is expected to do her share toward raising the necessary budget. A contribution of $1.00 from each home in Narberth will splendidly accomplish this end.

Organizations participating in the canvass are:

Woman's Auxiliary to the American Legion,
Auxiliaries of the Baptist, Lutheran, Methodist and Presbyterian Churches,
Red Cross,
Eastern Star,
Silver Star,
King's Daughters,
Auxiliary to the Tennis Association,
Junior Community Club,
League of Women Voters,
Community Club.

LIBRARIANS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Robert "Library" Wood, of Forest Avenue, entertained seventeen of the ladies who assist in various ways at the Library, with "breakfast and books" on Tuesday morning at home.

Strawberries and rolls stuffed with chicken salad were delicious features of the meal. During the meeting several matters pertaining to the Library were discussed. Another matter of interest brought up was the invitation extended by the Editor of "Our Town" that the ladies of the Library assume charge of the paper during a month's leave of absence he plans to take at the close of the college year.

The ladies were most enthusiastic in their willingness to tackle the task. Certainly a most interesting and delightful "Our Town" would be the result of their efforts, if the success of the Library is any criterion.

PENNSBURG AYRESHEADS STATE PRODUCERS

During March Kate of Garclough, 44787 gave 1642.5 pounds of milk, 78.35 pounds of butter-fat, thus entitling her to the honor of State Leader in production among Ayresheads during that month. She is 7 years, 335 days of age, and is being tested for the Advanced Registry by her owner, Pennhurst Farm, Narberth, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. John E. Brown, of Avon Road, is visiting friends at the shore.

Mrs. F. N. Delavan, of Montgomery, has returned to Philadelphia, Pa.

Tennis Team Could Not Touch Cynwyd

Scribe Says to Watch Them Today, Though

When you read that Narberth Tennis Team is in Div. "A," it means our boys are going up against the top-notch players of the Middle States.

Even though our boys were not successful in winning from that crack Cynwyd Team last Saturday, it was plainly evident that it was no Church tea party for Cynwyd, as they worked hard for every point won. The summary follows:

Cynwyd, 8; Narberth, 1

C. Fischer, Cynwyd, defeated H. Lane, Narberth, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

I. S. Travis, Cynwyd, defeated C. F. Fretz, Narberth, 7-5, 6-3.

T. C. Leonards, Cynwyd, defeated R. I. Fretz, Narberth, 8-6, 6-2.

C. M. Beard, Cynwyd, defeated A. Hawes, 6-2, 6-4.

H. Fischer, Cynwyd, defeated A. T. Grugan, Narberth, 6-3, 6-2.

G. R. Powell, Cynwyd, defeated J. G. Allen, Narberth, 6-2, 6-2.

Fischer and Fischer, Cynwyd, defeated Lane and Hawes, Narberth, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Beard and Leonards, Cynwyd, defeated Grugan and Allen, Narberth, 6-3, 6-2.

Next Saturday we play the Philmont team on their courts at the Philmont Country Club, and judging from the practice and improvement shown by our team, this week, it is a foregone conclusion the Narberth team brings home the laurels.

We must again refer to those wonderful suppers the Ladies are serving each Saturday night at 75 cents for adults and four bits for the children. Just give last Saturday's menu the once over and try and figure how any competent chef could prepare it for double the price.

Potatoes a la McKell

Radishes Olives

Baked Ham Waldorf Salad

New String Beans

Old fashioned strawberry shortcake with cream

Coffee Milk

We understand that 62 covers were laid last Saturday. As the limit of the dining room at the Club is less than one hundred and twenty, it will be well to call Narberth 1772 and have reservation made, thus making sure you get your share of the good things to eat.

Mrs. L. B. Edgerton has charge of the supper Saturday, June 9th, and that in itself is a guarantee of a good meal.

ANOTHER BUS WRECKED

Four persons were hurt on Thursday in an auto collision at Windsor and Narberth avenues.

One of the buses of the Narberth Bus Line was travelling north on Narberth Avenue, when a roadster, driven by Ralph Boericke, of 416 Brookway Avenue, Merion, crashed head-on into it.

The impact was great enough to carry the heavy bus to the curb and hurl it on its side on the pavement before Dr. Town's residence.

The roadster was apparently speeding at a pace exceeding 40 miles per hour, for the measurements made by the police showed that the car slid for a distance of seventy-five feet in its effort to stop.

The police found that young Boericke, who is just sixteen, was driving without a license. In the car with him were his father, John J. Boericke, and Daniel Quigley, his chauffeur. The latter was the most seriously injured, suffering a broken leg and internal injuries. The other two occupants of the Boericke car were badly shaken up, and Mrs. Anne Campbell of 320 Woodbine Avenue, was slightly cut by glass as the bus overturned.

The driver of the bus, Constantino Mariani, and young Boericke were both arrested and arraigned before Magistrate Walzer, who held them under $300 bail each.

This is the second time in three weeks that one of the Narberth buses has been smashed into by another car. The other accident occurred at Windsor and Essex Avenues. No one was badly hurt on that occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Page, of Montgomery Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Lukens entertained a few friends at the Lukens' home on Saturday evening.

Flower Show Today Will Be a Brilliant Event

Blooms from Small and Large Gardens Invited

With plenty of hot weather this past week to bring out the blooms, Narberth's annual Spring Flower Show will be held this afternoon. The event will take place in the Community Room of the Y. M. C. A.

Exhibits are to be delivered at the place of exhibition between 11 and 1.00 today. Jars will be provided for the exhibits in the cut flower classes.

Above all, don't think because you do not have an employed gardener and a Welsh polysyllabic name on your front gate that you can't compete successfully in this flower festival.

Just walk around Narberth some afternoon and see the wonderful blooms in our little side-yard gardens. Better yet, walk out in your own yard now and select a few of the prettiest from among your flowers. The early roses are the finest, and every one has a few.

The judges have been selected, and will be Miss Mary Evans of Ardmore, Mr. John Williams, of Haverford, and Mr. David Rust, Secretary of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society. In addition to the ribbon awards, the Sweepstake prize will be a fine silver cup, offered by the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society.

There is no entry fee, and no qualification is required, just so you live in Narberth or thereabouts, and bring your flowers to the Y. M. C. A. between 11 and 1.00.

Come back and see the show between three and five in the afternoon, or between seven and nine in the evening, and probably be surprised at the quantity and the quality of the flowers from our gardens.

Have the children gather wild flowers and arrange them, the early years are the ones in which to create an interest in the things that grow and also some respect for them.

The Sweepstake Prize and the Silver Cup is a new feature this year, and the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society is hoping that there will be much keen competition for this and similar prizes in the coming years.

The expenses of the flower show are not great and a silver offering to be collected at the door should cover the amount.

A new feature that should prove both interesting and educational will be the exhibits of many varieties of peonies by commercial growers.

At the request of a number of garden lovers, and since we have a little excess space at this season of the year, "Our Town" is again printing the schedule of classes this week, with some corrections made during the week.

This year's show promises to be one of the most colorful ever held. Among those who have volunteered to make the event a success are Miss Helen E. Shand, Mrs. Fletcher W. Stites, Miss Maizie J. Simpson, Mrs. Frank A. Clark, and Messrs. Robert J. Edgar, Joseph F. Simpson and A. C. Shand, Jr.

HEARD FROM THE SIDE LINES

That the funny sounds emanating from the Avon Apartments is Horace Smedley singing.

That occasions where there are two funny sounds, it is Alex Shand, Jr., helping him out.

That the Fretz Boys are now hitting on all twelve cylinders, and that we can look for some tennis of the Bill Tilden 2nd brand from now on.

That Jack DuBree has had all his clothes taken in since he started tennis, and he has enough spare cloth to make two small children, three pairs of pants, three overcoats (light) and three chest protectors.

That the Drug and Bud series will soon be on. Doc and Silent Jack play their first match next Friday at 5 A. M., for the benefit for bereft milkmen.

Mr. J. W. Darville, of Merion Ave., spent part of last week in Detroit, Mich.

Mr. E. C. Sharp who has been in Pittsburgh, spent last week-end at his home on Montgomery Ave.

FOOL DRIVING

Last Thursday the crash of two cars sounded another warning to those who regard the streets of Narberth as a speedway.

This is the second smash-up in three weeks. In neither case has anyone been killed, but that has been more through good luck than good management.

There is a lot of pin-headed driving permitted nowadays. The worst example is that of the child barely out of the nursery, permitted by indulgent parents to handle a dangerous and potentially death-dealing piece of mechanism. Young girls, lacking the strength to get out of a tight place; children with neither the experience or the responsibility necessary to drive a car; young foreigners racing about the streets with taxis at night, without lights, tearing past corners with their horns silent; all these are familiar sights to Narberth people who are in daily fear for the lives of their children.

It is difficult to enforce motor laws strictly. It is pretty hard to tell just who of these infants are driving with the legal sanction of a license. It is pretty hard to restrain the "proud parent" from permitting Little Willie to get his driving practice in a closely built-up town.

But accidents and tragedies will increase until parents of growing children demand protection. The drone of speeding cars along the short residential streets where children are bound to play, despite parental admonitions, will some-day cease.

Certainly, no one has a right to think that because he has not been arrested, he is within the law. Some day our motorists will realize that the criminally negligent is as much a murderer as the man who makes a business of it.

POLITICAL CAMPAIGNING

One of the great evils of old fashioned politics has been the system of obligation under which candidates were forced to look for assistance to political workers and heelers who should canvass around among the people, and who expected appointment to some lucrative office as a reward for their efforts. There has commonly been felt to be some justice in their claims. If a man has done energetic work for a party or candidate for a good many years, many people have felt that he establishes a kind of claim to be considered when the jobs are being given out.

Yet too frequently the men who have conferred this obligation have had no special qualification for their job, and will not render efficient service if they get some public office. The great number of men who get such appointments as the result of political services rather than as a result of their qualifications, constitute one big reason why it costs so much money to run the Federal and States Governments.

The more candidates for office can avoid pledging themselves to help such workers get office, the better government they will get. It would seem that the good thing is to let candidates depend more upon campaigning through the newspapers, upon the address they make at public meetings, and upon the friends they win as the result of frank personal statements of their ideas and purposes. When they campaign in this way they come under obligation to no one.

But when they have to depend upon the efforts of a lot of mercenary rooters who are chasing around to corral the voters, they are incurring debts the payment of which will some day be demanded, not always in a way calculated to promote good government.

It is a fine thing when public spirited citizens will get out and work for a good candidate without hope of personal reward. But those who perform these labors with the expectation of getting something in return, constitute one of the problems of democratic government.

VACATION WORK FOR BOYS

One of the problems which parents of high school and college students have to settle nowadays is as to what these young people, especially the boys, shall do during the summer season.

Formerly a lot of boys just loafed around through the summer. Their idleness was not useful, but anyway they were at home and under supervision. Today the general tendency when they reach a certain age is to work during their vacations. They enjoy earning spending money and they get new and interesting experiences.

But, according to the mothers' point of view, these boys often have a pretty difficult time of it, and sometimes work under undesirable conditions. Boys who do farm and other outdoor work usually have a healthful summer. But if they get under a hard and unfeeling employer he may put them at work which should only be done by a man who has attained full physical strength.

A boy may get quite a little injury in this way if not looked after properly.

Many boys have a restless desire to see the country and will take jobs a long distance from home, and their parents often feel uneasy as to the conditions that they meet.

These youngsters should remember that the advice of their parents is usually good. Their desire to work is admirable, but they should think whether the job they propose to take is the right thing for a young fellow who may not have attained his growth. The money or the fun they get are not the principal things. The main object is for them to find healthful work that will give them useful experience and fit them to take up more important jobs later on. A boy during his summer vacation gets a chance to try out different kinds of work and find out what he is best adapted to.

Letters to Editor

To the Editor of "Our Town":

I am afraid you are a bit pessimistic regarding playground progress.

It is true the citizens' association asked for $5,000 more than was appropriated. The fact that the bond issue was for $30,000 instead of $35,000 was unquestionably due to a misunderstanding, and to nothing else.

After paying for the ground there should be more than $7,000 available for grading, etc., and that, after all, is quite an appreciable sum. Furthermore, the members of the Recreation Board know that the test of their capacity will come in the ability to make progress with what has been given them. They don't have to be told that doing business with an ample pocket-book is no evidence of outstanding acumen.

The people of Narberth want this outdoor center available without undue delay, and the prospect of reduced costs later on is not a sufficient reason of itself to halt work at this time.

J. J. CABREY.

To the Editor of "Our Town":

The collection of ashes in summer time is understood to be made in the last week of each month, in the first days of the week. Last week was the appointed time for May, but no ashes were collected until the close of the week, notwithstanding the fact that a holiday intervened—Memorial Day—when scores of visitors came to see Narberth friends, and were regaled with the sight of ash containers piled up in door-yards all over the borough. What must they have thought of our sanitary methods?

Of course the excuse is that road work kept the men busy. But surely no road work is of the importance that attends the prompt removal of ashes and rubbish, delay in which affects the comfort, convenience and pleasure of the majority of the residents, to say nothing of the reflection on the Borough as a whole. Holding ash boxes and pails from the cellar is unpleasant enough, it is worse to have to stomp over them for a week.

THE TOWER OF BABBLE

By Collum Righter

Due to a certain faith Elizabeth K. Wood seems inclined to pin to our lapel we have read Mr. and Mrs. Sen. Stopping after fifty pages or so, we shut our eyes and by simple imaginary processes so to speak, carried the tale through. Then we lit a fresh pipe-load and carefully read all the way to the closing, cemetery paragraph. Barring one or two minor instances our imagination paralleled the story. It is unfortunate we cannot measure this volume with that succulent, saccharine tape employed by "The Literary Review" or "The New York Evening Post"; but the Washingtonian trait possesses us in connection with books as well as cherry stones.

Our private view is Louise Milne "had ought to" stick to horrors (for she can do them to the queen's taste) rather than retrograde to verbally disposing of as rattling a fine fellow as was Sen King-lo by such ultra-composed means as homesickness. One thing particularly noteworthy we thought, was dear Miss Julia Calhoun Townsend's disgust at those folks who persist in eating asparagus with their fingers. We cast two votes for the exceedingly well-drawn Southern spinster at that juncture. But here! Read the book yourselves! We are no book reviewer! Mr. Tewson, of "The Public Ledger," bestowed two non-fiction best sellers upon us this time last year—and to date we haven't lifted cover of either.

However, should the motor-driving but otherwise fair Mrs. Wood care to tax her conscience further she can do it by turning over "Blowing Weather" to that exquisitely graceful delivery clerk who is so adept at lowering things through the grating of our dungeon.

"It is better to be laughed at as a purist in language than to join the crowd of those who corrupt it!" howled we in rejoinder at a candid critic who remarked to us recently that it was "pretty soft, the easy way money came to Literary fellows." This sweet youth was of course entitled to his opinion even if it did reek of the Bromide Factory. He merely expressed the same erroneous idea held by many folks whose faculty of mental progression is on a par with that locked up in the heads of those who decry the multiplication table and its functions and still insist upon doing 25x25 by the laborious method of addition.

By George! We are off! The trouble with humans in general—and please note we do not say any human nature in general, as human nature in general is the delectable dish of strawberries so frequently spoiled by having sour, lumpy cream of humans in general poured over it—the trouble with humans in general is they are unable to imagine and consequently will not grant the work and worry attending a writer in his kindergarten years. Neither will they concede the plausibility of his results when he arrives at the High School plane of Letters, soars over it and steers toward the ivy grown gates of the College of Literature with its Post Graduate joys and possibilities.

They insist upon dashing huge pinches of salt upon every statement he makes prior to swallowing it. Their delight is futilely attempting to gauge with a micrometer divided off in dollar marks the thickness of that cloth whose warp is experience and resolution, whose weft is practical and sane idealism. To quote from Helen's Babies "All this and more" is the trouble with humans in general.

An undisputable axiom for everybody is this: The good we get out of anything, even the progress we make along the Road to Success is entirely proportioned by the thought, energy and love we cast into our job. But the love mentioned, mind you, does not imply a love of the money to be got out of it, nor does it mean a love for what that money will buy. Rather it refers to that devotion the conscientious Craftsman has for his Craft, by the infiltration of which his product is constantly made better and more enduring as time goes by.

One thing is a surety to us; we have that very love for writing. Though by no means a member of the congregation of good Doctor Van Ness we nevertheless firmly believe in Predetermination. Once upon a time we visited the Nation's most talented Vocational Analyst whom we had never seen before. As we sat by his desk in what had been the library of a glorious old mansion, he silently scrutinized us for quite a while and then said, deliberately that he had never in all his experience seen on any one's countenance such abnormal development of the Literary and Artistic markings. Which fully explains our proficiency at painting porch chairs and duck trousers in one operation. You cannot be an artist without good grounds.

After weighing what the Analyst told us we have been led to assume we've found our fore-ordained shelf where, with the Grace of Providence and a Corona typewriter we hope to eke out an existence, provided the shelf does not come down with us. Though we imagine there shall always be (as now) a cheerful coterie of humans-in-general to urge us on the topmost Heights of Achievement by constantly pook-pooking at what we are doing and complacently prescribing "a better paying profession" of some sort as a means of support. Just what profession they mean, we do not know. Surely not Pharmacy! We had a right eye cinder removed in Doctor Howard's office. No charge was made for the operation. There's no money in that sort of thing is there?

$5,000,000 GAIN IN COUNTY

ASSESSMENTS

12,342 Horses Listed

The progress of the finances of the county was very substantial last year. The annual report which Daniel F. Stout, clerk to the County Commissioners, sent to the Auditor General at Harrisburg, shows that the assessment for all purposes advanced more than $5,000,000, while the increase in eight years has been almost $60,000,000.
A remarkable gain was made in the returns of the money at interest. For this year the total is $160,263,401; last year, 143,243,860; while for 1915 the aggregate was $81,610,695.

It is interesting to note the ever-increasing claims for exemption from taxation because of property being used for religious, charitable or public purposes such as public schools and public buildings. There was $1,000,000 increase in the last 12 months, which is at approximately the same ratio as prevailed in the last eight years. The amount of exemption for this year is $18,607,500; for last year, $17,349,740 and for 1915, 11,092,035.

While this is the motor vehicle age there are still some horses and cows in the country but they are steadily decreasing. Today there are 12,342 horses of the value of $791,060, while last year there were 12,706, valued at $821,975. In 1915, the 18,308 horses in the county were valued at $1,165,265.
The cow decrease is not so marked. This year's number is 18,130, valued at $765,375; last year, 18,949, valued at $789,905. In 1915, the 18,495 were valued at $5,022,235.

The number of taxables present is 118,254; last year, 116,125; in 1915, 54,053.

The assessed valuation of all realty, including that exempted, is $194,877,900 for this year; $189,416,565 for last year, and $134,454,075 for 1915.

The assessed valuation of real estate with exemption deducted is $175,770,900 for this year; $189,416,565 for last year, and $123,362,040 for 1915.

The occupation assessment for this year $12,629,585; for last year, $12,227,925; for 1915, $5,330,285.

Charming at all times, especially delightful in the month of June.

As James Russell Lowell has beautifully phrased it:

"And what is so rare as a day in June?
Then, if ever, come perfect days."

OUR TOWN

THE LIBRARY SUBSCRIBES TO A NEW MAGAZINE FOR CHILDREN

The children's department of the Library is glad to announce that it is adding to its list of magazines a subscription to Child Life, published by Rand McNally Company. The table of contents of this magazine is particularly full and well chosen. There is the greeting page, by the editor, Rose Waldo; Outdoor Sports; Nursery Nuggets in rhyme; Little Artists, a section which tells chiefly of the childhood of our great artists, literary and musical, as well as the artists of pen and brush; Happiness Hall; Fairy Fancies; Plays and Pageants; Nature Stories; In Music Land; Indoor Pastimes, with many nice cutouts; Our Book Friends; Just Like This; Fables in Fabric; and the Joy Givers' Club, which is a selection of the letters, poems, and stories sent to the editor by the children themselves.

The Library also subscribes to the Youth's Companion, American Boy, and John Martin's Book. Other magazines, such as Popular Mechanics, Scientific American, Collier's, and Life are usually found on the table.

It is an aim of the Library that parents shall be helped in their selections for their children's reading matter by suggestions received from the book shelves and from the magazine table. It may be of interest to the children to know that a more complete system of filing for reference work is being undertaken which will facilitate finding the references required in their school work.

The Library wishes to thank Mrs. Hittenbach of Brookhurst Avenue for her generous contribution of children's books. The list numbers fifty books, among them several that have been in demand for some time, such as five of the "Automobile Girls" series by Laura Dent Crane; "The Secret Garden," "Little Lord Fauntleroy," and "Two Little Pilgrims' Progress," by Francis Hodgson Burnett; three of the "Mother West Wind" series by Thornton Burgess, and many others. The list is posted in the Library.

The children's books purchased by the Library with the money received from the Children's Dancing Class will be ready for the shelves next week.

SOME GOOD IDEAS

Along with "The Autocar Messenger," issued under the direction of our fellow-townsmen, Messrs. W. E. Blodgett and Robert F. Wood, comes a pamphlet addressed to drivers of motor trucks, inculcating some ideas of the "etiquette of the road" for the chaps who drive the "big fellows." The suggestions are timely and worth repeating:

Courtesy is as cheap as the air you breathe—practice it on those with whom you come in contact on the highways. It pays! When you are aware that a faster moving vehicle is trying to pass, move to the right at the first opportunity. Give the passing vehicle a cheerful greeting as it goes by. Cheerfully sharing the road with others makes friends. Blocking the road makes an unnecessary enemy. You can't afford to make enemies—they may prove expensive.

The man in the car behind may be the Governor of the State, bound for the capital—or an important member of the State legislature. Can there be any satisfaction in delaying them? They have it in their power to drive you from the highway—to throw you out of your job.

Be cheerful; let them pass. You hear a horn—it may be a doctor on an errand of mercy—you would not willingly or knowingly take a life. But you may if you persist in holding to the centre of the road. Let him pass—with a spirit of "God speed."

Are you going to let them say, "damn the trucks, I'm for driving off the highway, or, with a smile, "thank you, old top"—or "atta boy."

It is railroad practice to haul a freighter off on the siding to let the express go by. It is common sense. You are the freighter of the highway—the plunger, the worker, the money maker—a part of the nation's commercial system of transportation!

Remember:

1.—You are an engineer with a definite responsibility.

2.—You control a highly concentrated piece of machinery.

3.—A valuable cargo has temporarily been placed under your care.

4.—In your hands is an investment of many thousands of dollars.

5.—You are operating over a finely built highway—your highway; you have one share.

6.—But don't forget that the man in the car behind also has a share in it.

7.—There may be ten cars behind you—ten shareholders. Is it to be friend or foe? You alone can decide. Smiles are golden. They are the stuff out of which friendships are built.

Frowns, like a bludgeon in the hands of a criminal, are deadly. Your good will lies at stake. Good will is represented in: Your right to a place on the highway.

The capital investment in vehicle and load from which you receive your income. Whether the public classes you as a necessity or a nuisance. Hang on to that job. Protect that investment. Preserve that good will! It is your meal ticket; don't be foolish and throw it away.

MOVE TO THE RIGHT!

GAS SAVING HINTS

Don't use the giant burners on the range when the smaller ones will do.

Turn out the gas when you don't need it—matches are cheaper than gas.

Gas Does It Better

And gas will do your cooking better than ever before if you use one of the new Gas Ranges embodying the various features for cleanliness, convenience and economy.

Simplifies the cooking; saves food on account of even heat control; saves time, because of instant availability of heat; saves the temper of the woman who does the cooking, because of its perfect results. See the new Ranges at our Show Room.
